

2019-2020 Humanities Center Brown Bag Series

Citizenship for Health

Marc Kruman will discuss the Citizenship for Health Program and the application of the democratic deliberative practices to community health. The Program is a collaboration of the HOPE Village neighborhood, Wayne State University's Center for the Study of Citizenship and members of the University's faculty, staff, and students. Our overarching objective is to improve the health and well being of the residents of Hope Village. To attain that objective, we seek to enhance the civic capacity of HOPE Village and deepen habits of civic engagement regarding public health. In a broader sense, the Program seeks to use democratic deliberation to establish the public's leadership in public health.

FREE AND OPEN
TO THE PUBLIC

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY

Tuesday, February 25, 2020

12:30PM—1:30PM

Rm. 2339

Faculty Administration Building

Marc Kruman
Professor
History

Marc Kruman is the founding Director of the Center for the Study of Citizenship and Professor of History at Wayne State University. Kruman is the author of two books—Between Authority and Liberty: State Constitution Making in Revolutionary America (1997), and Parties and Politics in North Carolina, 1836-1865 (1983), and the co-editor of The Meaning of Citizenship, co-editor, Richard Marback (2015). He has been awarded an Andrew W. Mellon Faculty Fellowship in the Humanities at Harvard University and a National Endowment for the Humanities Research Fellowship.